City's Negroes Air Community Problems At Press Roundtable

YOUTH EYES FUTURE. Tom Rodfong, left, and John Douglas two 5-year-old East End youngsters, look at East Liverpool where efforts are being made to meet the challenges of equal opportunity for all its citizens.

By ROBERT POPP
Eight East Liverpool citizens sat around a conference table to talk informally about community problems. The atmosphere was polite and cordial, as in any such gathering. But there was a barely noticeable undertone of nervousness, an overly-polite observing of all the amenities on the part of the panel participants.

What made this meeting unusual was that seven members of the East Liverpool Negro community were meeting with a white reporter to attempt to spell out the principal problems of their people locally.

I was a bit nervous, and showed it. The other panelists were as nervous as they showed their state of mind in awkward little pauses, tiny titters of laughter in unusual places and frequent pauses in conversation to grope for just the right word.

EVERYONE was determined to be cool-headed and objective — that was obvious. But the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King still was bitterly in the forefront of every memory when the eight sat down in the conference room at The Review at the reporter's invitation to attempt to spell out in plain words for the whole community the problems that trouble the Negro most in East Liverpool.

The machinery had been set in motion for the meeting long before Dr. King died of an assassin's bullet. But the problem of setting a meeting that would mesh with everyone's work schedules had delayed the conference until this balmy spring evening.

Three hours of earnest, probing conversation followed. We paused now and then to laugh at someone's topical joke or simply wandered off the subject for a brief time now and then. Some participants arrived late and others left early. But on the whole it was a very revealing exposition of at least some of the major problems and frustrations of the Negro community in East Liverpool.

So many facts emerged and so many avenues were explored that they could not possibly be covered in a single newspaper story. But they provided a better insight into the situation and provided enough leads for a whole series of articles.

THOSE ARTICLES will appear from time to time as all the angles of each are explored, sifted and put into a form that will attempt to be balanced and, above all, revelatory.

This first, comparatively brief, story will attempt only to spell out the broad outlines of that discussion and help lay

Mail Gun Ban Rejected By Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has rejected proposals to ban interstate mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns. The measure was sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated with a mail-order rifle.

The votes of Western and Southern senators of both parties doomed Kennedy's proposal.

A White House spokesman said President Johnson considered defeat of the Kennedy measure "a blow to effective law enforcement."

The Senate voted to prohibit mail-order sales of handguns.

Voting is expected to begin next Tuesday on other parts of a broad crime-control bill, including a controversial provision to overturn Supreme Court restrictions on admissibility of confessions and eyewitness identifications in criminal trials.

Other disputes center on sections authorizing court-supervised police wiretapping and federal grants to improve local law enforcement.

Japan Quake Death Toll Mounts To 44

TOKYO (AP) — Strong aftershocks today continued to rock northern Japan, where relief teams began clearing up rubble and debris left by Thursday's two powerful quakes.

The latest police casualty figures listed 44 persons killed, including 39 in Aomori prefecture (state), six missing and 242 injured. More than 2,000 homes were wrecked and almost 9,000 persons were homeless.

'Smells Like Murder,' Letter Says Jury Begins Deliberation In Traffic Fatality Here

A traffic manslaughter trial that ended with the introduction of a letter in which the defendant intimated murder went to a Common Pleas Court jury this morning at Lisbon.

"This smells like murder," wrote Glenn C. Garvin, 43, Smiths Ferry stock farmer, in a letter to Pete Geiger, a Lisbon newspaper reporter, as he denied the state's accusation his car struck a pedestrian on the Diamond here.

Lawrence Mathes, 62, formerly of Dresden Ave., received a fractured skull in the accident Feb. 3 at the Reark Cigar Store corner and died Feb. 8 at City Hospital without regaining consciousness.

The April grand jury indicted Garvin for homicide by vehicle in the second degree "in that he unlawfully and unintentionally caused the death of Mr. Mathes while in violation of two traffic statutes — namely running through a red light and driving too fast for conditions."

Garvin and Geiger became acquainted about four years ago as members of a Darlington church. Since the letter mentioned "murder," Geiger talked to the prosecutor, who set up a polygraph (lie detector) test for the defendant. James R. Gause, the county's polygraph examiner, testified the results were inconclusive and he could make no determination.

Assistant Prosecuting Atty. John B. McDonald asked Garvin about the letter to Geiger Wednesday afternoon, but the defendant's testimony left the impression he did not know Geiger and had not written a letter.

When McDonald mentioned the letter again yesterday, Garvin said, "I humbly apologize to the court for inadvertently having forgotten about it."

McDonald subpoenaed Geiger yesterday and questioned him about Garvin's honesty. Geiger replied that he knew Garvin to be a "Christian gentleman" but on occasion he "extended the truth."

"Would you believe him under oath?" McDonald asked. "No," Geiger answered.

The defense was based on Garvin's emphatic denial that his car struck anyone, and the absence of multiple bruises on the victim. Defense Counsel Robert Hartford of East Palestine said these certainly would have resulted if the victim had been struck by a Cadillac traveling 35 miles an hour. Hartford noted that a bottle of liquor which had been in the victim's pocket since it was taken to the hospital with him was unbroken.

The Rev. Richard Olsen of Beaver, Pa., Garvin's pastor, appeared as a character witness.

Eagle-Eyed

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Eagles have driven utility workers to the ground. The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. put up two 85-foot steel towers near Lake Shasta, north of here, to carry a power line across a highway.

Before a line crew arrived to string the line, a pair of eagles built a nest in one tower and flailed at the workers until the men descended.

Supt. Gordon Sparrow ordered the work delayed until three eaglets are able to fly, in several weeks.

One Perishes, 5 Injured As Rig Hits Train

GALION, Ohio (AP) — One man perished in flames and five others were injured Thursday night when a tractor-trailer truck rammed a Penn Central freight train, derailling the engine and a dozen cars.

It was the second straight night in which a Penn Central train and a semi-truck were involved in a derailment in Ohio.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the truck, driven by Jack E. White, 30, Marion, was eastbound on Ohio 288 in neighboring Morrow County when it rammed the 14-car train.

White perished when his truck burst into flames.

Five Penn Central crewmen were injured, three requiring hospitalization, when the diesel engine and 12 cars, including the caboose, left the track.

Admitted to Galion Memorial Hospital were Richard Hoover, 62, the engineer, who suffered head lacerations; Charles Leech, 66, the brakeman, chest injuries and Loren Rubart, 56, the fireman, back and chest injuries.

Hoover was listed in good condition today. Leech and Rubart in fair condition. All three are from Galion.

Tornado Watch Over, All's Routine Again

Another tornado watch has come and gone without disaster and tri-state residents have settled back once more for a routine existence weather-wise.

Continued cool weather is in prospect tonight and Saturday, with showers likely tomorrow.

Temperatures are expected to average below normal through Wednesday, with little day-to-day changes. Highs will average in the upper 60s and low 70s and the lows will be in the 40s to around 50.

Tornado-Hit States Plan To Rebuild

Treating Injured; Clearing Wreckage; Twisters Claim 71

By The Associated Press
People treated their injured, arranged to bury their dead and made plans to clear wreckage and rebuild after the tornadoes that hit in five states Wednesday.

The twisters left 71 killed, more than 1,000 injured and millions of dollars in property damage in Arkansas, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri.

The death toll: 43 in Arkansas, 15 in Iowa, 10 in Illinois, 2 in Indiana and 1 in Missouri.

Arkansas, hardest hit had 470 injured and some remained in critical condition. Insurance investigators were in the stricken areas. There was no immediate dollar estimate in damages.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller asked President Johnson to declare it a federal disaster area.

School for some ended two weeks early in Jonesboro, allowing 1,200 pupils more time to spend helping their families clear away the debris. Rescue workers took advantage of a clear, hot day Thursday to begin that task in Jonesboro, and in Oil Trough, Tuckerman and Mountain Home, communities which suffered most in the storms.

Thirty-four persons were killed and 350 injured when a tornado smashed the southeast side of Jonesboro.

Gov. Harold Hughes estimated total damage in the northeastern Iowa storms at $28 million and declared the section a disaster area. The Red Cross listed 12 dead at Charles City, one at Oelwein and two at Maynard, north of Oelwein—and three missing. The number injured was placed at 693.

Hughes expressed faith that Charles City and Oelwein (Turn to TORNADOES, Page 3)

726 Enemy Troops Killed

Allies Wind Up Long Campaign In A Shau Valley

PHU BAI, Vietnam (AP) — The allies ended their month-long sweep through the A Shau Valley today and North Vietnamese were believed moving back to the area, their biggest supply and staging base in South Vietnam. U.S. officers said the drive through the valley had killed 726 enemy troops.

Lt. Gen. William L. Rosson, the U.S. commander of the big allied invasion into the enemy stronghold southwest of Hue, said his forces turned up a fourth of the enemy supplies stockpiled inside the 25-mile-long valley.

The cost, according to the U.S. Command, included 139 Americans killed, 662 wounded seriously enough to require hospitalization, 21 helicopters destroyed and 108 damaged.

There was no report from South Vietnamese forces in the operation, named Delaware.

U.S. commanders said the allied force—estimated earlier at more than 15,000 men—closed out the operation in the valley 370 miles northeast of Saigon because the approaching monsoon rains were about to cut off their air support.

Although there was no official word because of security requirements, it was assumed that U.S. ambush patrols and other such units remained in the general area.

Maj. Gen. John J. Tolson, whose 1st Air Cavalry Division on April 19 made the first allied invasion into the valley in two years, said Hanoi should realize American forces can go back into the valley any time.

Another invasion soon appeared unlikely, however. April and May are the only two months of the year when the weather is good enough in the area for the air strikes and supply flights which U.S. forces require in such remote sectors. The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, by contrast, have no air power or air supply facilities in South Vietnam and have never been dependent on them.

U.S. officers had said earlier that the allied force would not

U.S. Links Buffer Zone To Any Step

Reds Attempting To Gain World Opinion Against U.S. Acts

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
PARIS (AP) — Informed French and American diplomats expect a compromise deal between the United States and North Vietnam to end the bombing of the North in spite of the apparent stalemate in the Paris peace talks.

The North Vietnamese appear at present to be trying to rally world opinion against the United States to pressure it into ending military action against North Vietnam without any compensating cutback by the Communists.

The appeal for support has been sounded this week by Ambassador Xuan Thuy in Paris and by Hanoi Radio.

To counter this maneuver U.S. spokesmen say what they consider the unacceptably high military price the United States would have to pay to end the bombing under present conditions. They are driving for restoration of a buffer zone to cut off Communist troop movements across the North-South border.

Thousands of truck loads of men and supplies per month could pour into South Vietnam without interruption, they say, if attacks were stopped without North Vietnamese de-escalation. Reconnaissance flights over the North would be stopped, cutting off vital information. Artillery shelling and aerial bombing of the Southern border area of the North would be halted while Communist troops massed there could move South at any time.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in an interview Thursday made a tight link between restoring a buffer zone between North and South and ending the

Poor People's Campaign

Capital To Face Hectic Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's Campaigners by the hundreds are pouring into the nation's capital once again, setting the stage for a hectic weekend that promises to give campaign officials enormous housing headaches before Monday.

The caravans that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference field staff organized around the country weeks ago are converging on "Resurrection City, U.S.A.," which at this stage of construction hasn't room for them all.

Officials estimate they have housing ready for 700 persons in the plywood and plastic shantytown in sight of the Lincoln Memorial.

Five hundred campaigners, mostly from Mississippi and Alabama, are living there now, and SCLC temporarily placed 340 more who arrived Thursday from Chicago in Washington churches.

Another 700 due to arrive today from a caravan that began in Boston will be housed in suburban Maryland churches, officials said. They aren't yet sure where to send the 1,000 persons set to arrive Saturday from a Midwestern caravan that was halted for two days in Pittsburgh to gain construction time.

And there is a group due in Sunday from the South.

There are enough churches to house everyone temporarily, top staff members say. The problem will be getting them moved as rapidly as possible into the camp.

On top of all that, no one knows just how many sympathetic or curious visitors, attracted by this week's news stories

Slow To React To Danger Signals

Kennedy Accuses LBJ Of 'Economic Mistakes'

By The Associated Press
Sen. Robert F. Kennedy accused the Johnson administration today of being slow to react to danger signals in the economy and said some form of income tax increase is needed "to pay for the mistakes of the past."

Campaigning in Portland, Ore., for the Oregon's May 28 presidential primary, the New York Democrat said the need for a tax hike and cuts in nonessential spending was signaled in 1966 but the administration failed to act.

The war "has taken its economic toll" and a moderate increase in corporate and individual income taxes is necessary, Kennedy said in remarks prepared for a Portland City Club luncheon.

But the 10 per cent income tax surcharge advocated by the President, coupled with $6 billion in spending cuts, "would be strong medicine indeed for our economy," he said. "As many as 750,000 people might be thrown out of work, with a 30 per cent rise in unemployment."

One of Kennedy's rivals for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, was at the opposite corner of the nation today, trying to win support for a Florida state pledged to support him at the Democratic National Convention.

The pro-McCarthy slate will be up against two others in a Florida primary, also May 28. One is committed, the other pledged to Sen. George Smathers as a favorite son.

McCarthy bore down on the Vietnam issue as he swung through the Sunshine State Thursday, accusing the administration of adopting, then dropping

Contestants Tall In Miss USA Pageant

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If Miss Alaska's theory that "short men don't like big broads" is true, almost half of the Miss USA contestants are in tall trouble.

This year's crop is truly a bumper crop, with 18 of 51 stretching to 5-foot-8 or above. But most of the leggy lovelies say they would still like to grow another inch or two.

Miss Florida, a six-footer who says she still might be growing is the tallest, followed closely by 5-foot-11½ Miss Nebraska, who says that's tall enough and vows she will never get measured again.

"If I get any taller, I don't want to know about it," said Linda Drescher of Omaha. "The boys might say they like the tall girls, but they sure don't show it. All the tall boys date the short girls."

Sharon Long of Anchorage, a hazel-eyed brunette who is 5-foot-10½, says she wouldn't mind another inch or two, but admits her height presents a problem or two with the men.

"If they're short, they don't like to be dwarfed," said the 19-year-old student who hunts grizzly, caribou and moose in her spare time.

Miss Washington, one of the winners in Wednesday night's swimsuit competition, says she never has any problem with short men trying to date her.

"I scare them," said 5-foot-9 Dorothy "Didi" Anstett of Kirkland.

"But on second thought," she added, "this is a pretty good height. The boys still feel secure."

Talks

rest of the bombing and "all other acts of war" against the North.

Harriman was asked in an ABC television interview whether he was encouraged by North Vietnam's willingness so far to talk here about subjects other than ending the bombing of the North.

He said they had not talked about anything in such a way that "we can get at the subject and agree to it" but had thrown out ideas "in a propaganda way."

"They have criticized our violation of the demilitarized zone," Harriman continued, "when the facts are they are the ones that violated first. It is that sort of thing that they are doing, and they have got to indicate specifically they are ready to re-establish the zone before we can negotiate how to achieve that de-escalation."

Harriman's words indicated that the United States would insist on genuine demilitarization of the DMZ as a condition for ending the rest of the attacks on North Vietnam.

Officials said he was not interposing any new condition to the talks but making clear the protection the United States wants for American and allied forces near the North-South border, if all attacks on the North are to be stopped.

The more hopeful U.S. and French diplomats believe a compromise would probably take the form of a secret understanding that if Johnson would "unconditionally" stop the bombing and "all other acts of war" North Vietnam would then scale down military operations.

Behind this hopeful view is the belief, especially among French authorities, that the North Vietnamese made a basic decision before coming here to probe the possibilities for peace fully.

U.S. authorities seem to agree that so far, at least, the peace talks have gone about as they expect: very slow progress had been forecast.

Harriman told one newsman: "We are now involved in a major propaganda campaign. But one day they will get tired and get down to constructive discussions."

On the Communist side, Nguyen Van Sao, a press officer for Thuy, said his main impression after two days of talks was "The United States is trying to avoid the most important question—the cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam. He is trying to divert the discussion to other points, such as the Geneva agreements of 1954."

Charge Dropped In Check Action

A bad check charge against Daner D. Adkins of Industry Rd 1 was dismissed in Municipal Court today when the plaintiff, Mrs. Shirley Stull, a cashier at a local market, withdrew the complaint.

The hearing had been scheduled Tuesday, but was continued when Adkins asked to obtain counsel. He is being held in City Jail on a previous sentence.

Adkins was charged with writing a $40 check payable to cash in an account at the Potlows Bank and Trust Co. listed in the names of Daner D. Adkins Jr. and Hazel D. Adkins. Mrs. Stull cashed the check and it was returned by the bank because of the irregularity in the signature.

Mrs. Stull told Judge Samuel Chertoff the defendant's son had paid the $40. Judge Chertoff said he would dismiss the case, but pointed out he does not go along with the theory that because restitution has been made prosecution should be dropped.

When the judge then ordered Mrs. Stull to pay the court costs, Adkins intervened and said he would pay them.

R. Ben Hosler, a U.S. marshal at Cleveland, filed a detainer Wednesday in Municipal Court against Adkins, charging him with parole violation.

Airs Firemen's Request

Ohioville Council Plans Playground Area Signs

Ohioville Council Thursday night approved erecting of signs, markers or blinkers near the Fairview School as a warning to motorists of the school playground.

A spokesman said the area has a 45-mile-an-hour speed limit, but reminded it becomes 15 miles near a school.

Motorists reportedly are not reducing speed near the school, so the Council action was taken.

A REQUEST was received from the volunteer fire department for housing a new panel truck donated by the Junior Firemen for emergencies.

Council referred the request to the executive board, which later discussed whether to enlarge the present station, which holds only two trucks, or possibly erect a new station.

The board also discussed possible amendments to the building and subdivision regulations concerning trailers. Concrete foundations or skirts may be required.

Last night's meeting had been rescheduled from May 2 when a quorum was not present. F. Paul Dawson, president, was in charge.

Daniel Baker Jr., borough engineer, will present estimates on a proposed improvement of the Ashwood Dr. approach to Tuscarawas Rd. at the next meeting June 6.

George Gailey Jr., road committee chairman, reported roads are being graded in preparation for oiling. He said a cement sewer has been replaced on Ridgmont Dr.

Mayor Elmer Gifford filed the April police report, which showed 59 complaints investigated and 17 arrests made — two on dog law violations, 14 for traffic and one for peace surety.

Council has written letters to several Meadowbrook Estates residents for sewage violations.

Mrs. Emily Carroll, secretary, will send letters of appreciation to the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. and to United Steelworkers Local 1212 for the recent no strike agreement, and to Boy Scout Troops for cleanup day in the borough April 20.

Plans Completed For Poppy Sale

Final plans for the poppy sale Saturday were made during a meeting of Robert Chenault VFW Post 9285 at Wellsville Wednesday.

Members will set up roadblocks at 5th and Main Sts. and at the Roadside Park, William Spires, commander, reported.

In other business, members were selected to attend the VFW District 6 meeting at East Liverpool Saturday and Sunday.

witness. He said the defendant sometimes perverted the truth.

McDonald, in his closing argument, said he believes the defendant set up a defense mechanism the instant his car hit Mathes and perhaps actually believes the account he gave in court. McDonald said he is sympathetic toward Garvin and believes he needs psychiatric help.

At the request of McDonald, Judge Joel H. Sharp yesterday permitted the "driving - too fast" allegation to be stricken from the indictment. McDonald said none of the witnesses saw Garvin's car long enough to have an accurate idea of its speed.

The extremes were "35 to 40 miles per hour" from Everett Coleman, 70, of 307 Carolina Ave., the state's only eyewitness, and "three to four miles per hour" stated by the defendant.

Garvin said he drove south on St. Clair and, with a green light facing him, entered into the crosswalk on the north side of 6th St. He said there was no one in the crosswalk.

Coleman said he saw the car strike the pedestrian, who was walking from east to west on 6th St., just as Mathes was with in a couple of steps of the west curb. The victim turned over in the air and landed on the back of his head and shoulder on the street in front of Reark's, Coleman said.

Coleman was the state's first witness Monday and attended all sessions of the trial. McDonald noted that there must have been other persons who saw the accident, but Coleman was the only one to offer his services. "The others just didn't want to get involved," McDonald said as he commended Coleman.

Coleman had the backing of other state witnesses that Garvin's car ran south onto 6th St. (one way east) and struck the left front end of a eastbound Plymouth sedan driven by Harry Frontz, 48, of Buckeye Ave., Wellsville.

Garvin said he stopped in the middle of 6th when he became confused as to which way to go and was struck by the Frontz vehicle.

Coleman, Frontz and David Kidder of 1572 Etruria St., who was northbound on Market St. and had stopped for the same traffic light, testified it was red for traffic on Market and St. Clair.

The Virgin Islands are the easternmost U.S. possession.

Conference Set On Annexation

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners will hold a conference Monday with Lawrence Stacey, Columbiana attorney representing petitioners desiring to have approximately 340 acres east of Columbiana annexed to the village.

A public hearing on the proposed annexation was conducted April 29 at Lisbon Village Hall. The commissioners reserved a decision and proponents and the opposition were given until May 19 to file briefs.

Commissioners conferred Thursday with representatives of the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce and William McKenna, an engineer with William E. Quicksall & Associates of New Philadelphia, relative to the proposed sewer system for N. Market St. Ext. Another meeting was scheduled for June 3 when McKenna said construction plans will be ready.

Acting under emergency rules, the commissioners purchased a $200 water cooler from Kuhns Hardware at Lisbon to replace one on the second floor of the Courthouse. The old cooler sprang a leak, which repairmen could not remedy.

Patents are granted at the rate of about 1,000 per week.

A World Without Peace

Although the war in Vietnam dominates today's headlines, there are wars and rumors of wars in many other areas of the world. Civil strife and border incidents have erupted into sustained conflict in at least eight countries while six other nations can be classed as smoldering powder kegs.

Continuing conflicts exist in Vietnam, Laos, Thailand, Yemen, Nigeria, Angola; Portuguese Guinea and Mozambique (see numbered explosions on adjoining map). The powder kegs (represented by bombs on map) are Korea, India, Cyprus, Israel, Rhodesia and Zambia.

The world is well aware of the current peace talks under way in an attempt to solve the Vietnam War. What effect a hoped-for peace in Vietnam will have on fighting going on in adjoining Laos is not clear at this time.

Likewise, what course the related fighting in Thailand will take remains an impendable.

Korea, in the aftermath of the Pueblo incident and the continuing border violations and shootings, is very inflammable.

INDIA HAS BECOME a new spearhead for Russian penetration in Asia. Tremendous amounts of military aid from Russia has converted India into a crucible for war.

Politically, there is considerable evidence that India's program of reliance upon Russia has brought the former nation's so-called democracy to the brink of disaster. Whether it will be able to resolve its difficulties short of anarchy or dictatorship is the question of the moment. The answer is sure to affect the world balance of power.

Cyprus, where shooting flares from time to time, is a tinderbox of the Middle East.

In that same area, Israel finds itself continually under attack of one kind or another from its Arab neighbors. Egypt's Nasser, resupplied with arms by Russia, again threatens to exterminate Israel.

Civil war in Yemen goes on, constituting a threat through involvement of other nations. A three-nation commission which has sought to end the conflict appealed to Russia, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Iran not to interfere in Yemen's internal affairs but the war goes on.

The war between Nigeria and its breakaway eastern region of Biafra, just past its 10th and bloodiest month, has become a spectacle of racial hatred run amok. Peace talks, however, are scheduled to begin next week.

In Rhodesia, the execution of three black Africans by the Rhodesian government in defiance of the British government brought expressions of fear that the action drastically reduced the possibility of a negotiated settlement of the Rhodesian crisis. The situation was called "grave."

Zambia is considered another stick of dynamite with its fuse sputtering. Neighbor to Rhodesia, it demanded 27,950,000 pounds sterling from Great Britain for the cost of supporting economic sanctions against Rhodesia during 1968. A few more incidents there could spell real trouble.

Fighting across the Angola-Congo border, involving mercenaries, guerrillas and government troops, has not been halted permanently. Charges and counter-charges fly back and forth and there are calls for investigations, but the shooting continues.

FIGHTING BETWEEN rebels and Portuguese troops in Portuguese Guinea continues on the West Coast of Africa. No resolution of this conflict seems to be in the offing.

Conditions existing in Mozambique are largely similar to those in Angola, both being Portuguese territories. Bands of "freedom fighters" operate in both places.

The United States and North Vietnam, if they are able to achieve peace, will remove the biggest war from the world scene. But it certainly will not mean peace in the world — not as long as all the lesser conflicts continue.

The Topic Is Injustice

Injustice — in its many forms — is a prime topic in this restless age.

An injustice being overlooked is the blanket indictment issued by many people against citizens who oppose rioting and other forms of lawlessness.

People who object to violence and support the cause of law and order too often are being lumped into a single category and described as opposing equal opportunity for all races and supporting a campaign to keep the little man down.

It is unjust to equate a belief in law with non-interest in the poverty-stricken.

It is wrong to accuse those who ask for the arrest of lawbreakers of being anti-Negro, anti-progress or anti-poor people.

'Procrastination Week'

A dynamite blast was to mark the start of construction of another section of the Beaver Valley Expressway west of the Greater Pittsburgh Airport today.

Pennsylvania Highways Secretary Robert Bartlett and Mary Lou Molner, "Miss Transportation Week," were to be among the special guests at the groundbreaking ceremonies, a feature of national "Transportation Week."

The 2.8-mile link will extend from the airport to the Beaver County line on the route of the expressway which will cross the Ohio River at Vanport and extend north to the Keystone Shortway near Sharon.

"National Transportation Week" in the East Liverpool area is being observed with mixed emotions. The new county airport will soon be under construction, river traffic is expanding — but without full realization of potential here — rail shipments are available, but the highway industry remains strangled by that shaky skein of steel, the Chester Bridge, from which trucks are barred.

It has been four months since the load limits were ordered, two months since its replacement was urged by engineers concerned about cable corrosion — yet, neither West Virginia nor Ohio officials, who should be greatly concerned about this economic and safety problem, have come up with even preliminary plans on what should be done.

What about observing "National Procrastination Week?"

Thoughts For The Day

If you really fulfill the royal law, according to the scripture, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself," you do well. But if you show partiality, you commit sin, and are convicted by the law as transgressors. — James 2:8,9.

When the perishable puts on the imperishable, and the mortal puts on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written: "Death is swallowed up in victory." — I Cor. 15:54.

I shall not die, but I shall live, and recount the deeds of the Lord. — Psalms 118:17.

If one man can be allowed to determine for himself what is law, every man can. That means first chaos, then tyranny. — Felix Frankfurter, U.S. Supreme Court justice.

Remind them to be submissive to rulers and authorities, to be obedient, to be ready for any honest work. — Titus 3:1.

There is no right without a parallel duty, no liberty without the supremacy of the law, no high destiny without earnest perseverance, no greatness without self-denial. — Francis Lieber, American publicist.

Longshoremen Balk At War

WASHINGTON — From the old left comes word which will surprise the new left, which scoffs at the thought there's any militancy left in vintage radicals.

For the first time in recent wars, a powerful union president actually is saying that he will urge his followers not to move supplies to our forces in Vietnam should he become convinced that President Johnson really isn't trying to negotiate peace in Paris.

No idle rhetoric, this. The daring warning comes from 66-year-old Harry Bridges, veteran self-proclaimed supporter of Ho Chi Minh, North Vietnam, Mao Tse-tung and the Communist Chinese revolution.

The firebrand of San Francisco's Embarcadero, he is president of the independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) without whose members no ship could steam from Pacific, Alaskan and Hawaiian ports unless it was loaded by the Defense Dept.

Bridges snarls less these days and some even have thought he's gone a bit hawkish in his recent criticism of the culturally agonized Communist Chinese.

But the other day he put himself on record in favor of refusing to help supply U.S. fighting men if President Johnson ordered any new troops into South Vietnam.

Not since the '30s when he slugged his way across the Western waterfront, has there been anything subtle about Bridges. He says what he thinks. Apparently he has not abandoned his professional candor.

"WE AS A UNION with a long program of opposition to the war in Vietnam," he said recently, "will watch developments closely. If there is any reneging in the promise to work toward peace, we should consider recommending to our members the calling of a special international rank-and-file conference to consider what we should do about it."

Bridges has a prefabricated answer:

"To spell out one course of action," he says, "we could decide to respectfully notify the President that taking his pledges in good faith, we as a union will balk at helping supply any new forces sent to Vietnam."

"... We certainly couldn't go along with the idea of additional American forces in Vietnam — especially in face of the pledges give by the President..."

What Bridges is saying, it seems to me, is that he will tell his San Francisco-based union of 60,000 dockworkers and warehousemen to refuse to load military cargo unless the American government meets his criteria for logistics, manpower and military tactics in Vietnam, and bargaining in Paris.

There is no doubt that Bridges and his secelary treasurer, Louis Goldblatt, have as much influence in their union as Kosygin and Brezhnev have in the Russian Central Committee.

INSIDE LABOR it is taken for granted that as Bridges and Goldblatt go, so goes the ILWU. And as the ILWU goes, so goes about 75 per cent of the loading of military cargo in the Southeast Asian and Pacific seallit.

If this union, which Ambassador Arthur Goldberg helped out from organized labor when he was special CIO counsel back in the early '50s, should "balk" at loading supplies — and boycott the military effectively — there would be no need for negotiations in Paris.

If there is a showdown between the ILWU and the Defense Dept., a little-known unit would move into action from its headquarters across the Virginia line at Bailey's Crossroads, and its field offices in Oakland, Calif., and Brooklyn, N.Y.

This is the vital Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service (MTMTS) which is ultimately responsible for moving the ammunition, guns, and other fighting equipment from arsenals and production centers to Vietnam, labor trouble or no labor trouble.

This MTMTS would decide whether to attempt to load the supplies with its own manpower — some 1,000 military personnel and 6,000 civilians. There's always the Army and Navy.

OR IT COULD SHIFT the supplies to the Gulf and Eastern coasts where the pier workers belong to Teddy Gleason's International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-CIO) which cares less for Bridges than Barry Goldwater does for Bobby Kennedy.

"Let them send the ships here," said Gleason when he read Bridges' warning. "We will load them. We don't like the work which comes from an economy based on the war effort. But if the nation is in difficulty and our soldiers are fighting, we will be happy to get the supplies across."

There's been a bitter feud between Bridges and most of the AFL-CIO leaders, who are solidly behind President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

The anger towards Bridges, who has befriended the Soviet labor organizations and the global pro-Communist World Federation of Trade Unions, is far sharper than the differences even with the organizers of the National Labor Leadership Assembly for Peace.

Bridges was at the Assembly when it met in Chicago late last year. But despite the differences with the White House over foreign policy, not one of those AFL-CIO leaders who organized the peace assembly would consider the direct action Bridges threatens.

If he implements his warning to the U.S., Bridges would be the first labor leader actually to attempt to "balk" sending supplies to American troops on a fighting front.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Early Peace Dim

Will the Vietnam War end before the presidential election is held in the United States? Will many of the troops then come home this year?

If no peace agreement is made, will there at least be an armistice and a cessation of the fighting while the negotiations are prolonged beyond November?

Curiously enough, neither side has the answer to any of these questions at this time.

The problem is complicated by the belief prevailing in Hanoi that the Democratic administration is so anxious for peace that it will make almost any concession in order to get a pledge that the fighting will cease immediately while details are left to subsequent parleys.

THE PEACE negotiations will not be successful unless an over-all plan of settlement can be formulated. Undoubtedly some neutral governments in the world will play a part behind the scenes in suggesting various ways of achieving peace.

The North Vietnamese see an advantage in withholding any approval of an armistice until they have won some important concessions. What the Hanoi government wants is a formula that will permit it to take over South Vietnam.

This will not be forthrightly asserted, and probably promises will be made that North Vietnam will respect the independence of South Vietnam.

The real difficulty is that Communist elements are inside South Vietnam. The government in Saigon is fearful that it will lose out if the American troops go home. North Vietnam's promises and pledges might be disregarded and it is heard in South Vietnam that America would not promptly send its troops back to Vietnam.

This is why the United States is not likely to withdraw its troops until some international apparatus has been agreed upon to assure the fulfillment of the terms of the agreement. Many people who have been reading about the negotiations in Paris are assuming that it may be feasible to end the war before the American elections.

But a halt of the fighting could be brought about only if both sides are willing, and the United States would not risk a big reduction of its forces until some practical plan for enforcing the peace agreement is developed.

It would appear, therefore, that no substantial number of American troops is likely to be pulled out of Vietnam for another year or more. The parents and relatives of the young men in the armed forces may, however, keep on hoping that the major fighting will be stopped between now and November.

The big question is when, if an armistice is agreed upon, American forces can begin to be withdrawn in large numbers. Certainly it would be prudent for the United States government to wait and see whether the armistice agreement is fulfilled.

In the case of the Korean War, there were frequent violations of the armistice by the North Koreans, and many American troops were killed after the cessation of the fighting had been ordered by agreement of both sides.

A Vietnam armistice could be signed after mutual concessions are made. But the document would be worthless until sufficient time has elapsed in which the good faith of the North Vietnamese can be tested.

The prospect of an early "peace" — in the sense in which the term is being used in the United States — is not likely until next year, since an armistice will have to come first. The period in which the terms of peace are worked out could be lengthy.

IT IS IMPROBABLE that a peace treaty between North and South Vietnam can be arranged unless several nations agree to pledge their military forces to support the agreement. This is properly one of the functions of the United Nations.

The majority of the member countries, however, are closer to the Communist side, and the Soviet Union is not likely to permit any U.N. peacekeeping force to be established. But an international force can be set up by a group of nations irrespective of any relationship to the U.N.

The problem of making peace in Vietnam is not necessarily going to be solved by the delegates to the Paris conference. Much will depend upon whether the Moscow government will really block all efforts and keep the Vietnam situation in the same unsettled state as the Korean truce has been for years.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Gordon Dresher of Chestnut St. received the annual citizenship award of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

New post offices, for three Columbiana County communities, costing nearly a quarter of a million dollars, were included in a house proposal at Washington.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The local Junior of Commerce, which was founded in 1939, was selected to represent the state of Ohio during national competition at the convention of the U.S. Chamber in Philadelphia.

TEN YEARS AGO — Boy Scout Troop 43, sponsored by the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association, volunteered to cut the grass once weekly on the traffic islands in the four-lane section of W. 8th St. and other grassy plots along the right-of-way.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I am writing this letter in gratitude and appreciation to several employees of the J.C. Penney Co. for their aid and assistance to me when I became very ill in their store.

They called my doctor to find out what to do. He gave them instructions, and when I was feeling better, two gentlemen whose names I did not know took me to my doctor's office.

I want to thank those two gentlemen for their kindness. If there were more people in the world like them there would be less heartaches and trouble in this world.

JOSEPHINE HISSAM

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I am not sure if you're the one I should write to or not.

I went to the cemetery at Calcutta United Presbyterian on Saturday before Mother's Day and the grass was nearly knee deep.

Are there not caretakers to take care of these places? The grass back to the graves behind the church was cut beautiful. It's unfortunate that these places aren't taken care of better.

Also we had flowers put on our graves at Longs Run for Easter, and someone took the plants. They didn't bother the old things that other people had put on our family graves for Christmas. So we know the caretaker didn't bother or he would have taken them all off.

You would think the ministers of these churches would take more interest in their cemetery, as this is a reflection on the church. It really is a crime people have to steal from the dead and also have no respect for them.

the groundwork for several more specific stories to follow.

As we pulled our chairs up to the shiny, hardwood surface of the table, I explained that first and foremost I was seeking to shed light—not heat—on the whole race question in East Liverpool. I pointed out that I was interested particularly in the local and area situation — the facts that concern East Liverpool.

If the story that started to take form could not serve to create a better understanding in the whole community of the problems of one segment of its citizens—but instead create a gulf or serve as the springboard to dissension—then there was no point in the discussion, I felt. I believe there are enough bits of half-truth and downright prejudice floating around in everyday conversation that we could do nothing by adding to the heat.

Light, I emphasized, was what the white community needs to have thrown on problems that have grown in the dark corners. Indifference, prejudice, laissez faire, discrimination, ignorance—call it what you will—only the glaring light of truth and frank statements of opinions and attitudes from both communities can hope to begin to dispel the dim, grey area in which we meet and attempt to function together as citizens, taxpayers, parents and workers.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, I found the same attitude all around the table. Many of us had been to the type of meeting that starts out to solve a problem and winds up in a namby-pamby discussion in which everyone is too polite to offend his neighbor and the whole thing trails off into generalities that are frustrating and downright disappointing to persons of all shades of opinion.

Here are the major points that emerged in that three-hour discussion, a give and take that became more frank as we warmed toward each other and began to look at each other with eyes that did not see color or profession. Each, mentioned only in capsule form here, can form the background for another article attempting to explore fully, weigh carefully and point plainly.

There's a lack of communication between the Negro and white communities that prevents each segment from understanding the basic attitudes of the other. Frank, face-to-face discussions are needed. Adequate housing in a neighborhood of his choice still is near the top of the East Liverpool Negro's list of needs and he feels there is an unspoken, perhaps subconscious, attitude on the part of the men who control the real estate and mortgage markets to prevent him from selecting a home which he wishes to buy or from obtaining a loan to finance it — at least under the same rules and standards that apply to others. Proper rental housing is an equally serious problem.

JOB DISCRIMINATION is not a big problem in the major industries such as steel and refractories, at least so far as hiring practices are concerned, but the Negro feels he is not as free to move upward to supervisory posts. The situation in dinnerware plants, other smaller factories and particularly the recall and service establishments is entirely another matter, not nearly so bright. School counseling for Negro students does not seek to guide their training into lines

Board Of Health Plans Move To New Quarters

The Board of Health is preparing to move into new offices at City Hall.

The transfer will be made within the next several months to the second-floor quarters formerly used by the city engineer. The offices are next to the Health Department facilities.

The announcement of the move was made by Health Commissioner Jack Bonner, at the meeting Thursday night. He pointed out the new office will provide more space. Planning Coordinator Don Eckert and Housing Inspector Chester Brown will occupy the present office.

In other business, Health Nurse Selma Ladzinski reported she investigated 169 cases between April 18 and May 15, including 68 tuberculosis and cancer cases.

Bonner conducted 148 investigations and issued 28 licenses. Sanitarian Ben Weber made 111 inspections, including 10 milk samples.

and their people do not benefit from their talents. There are only three Negroes on the faculty in the East Liverpool school system. There is no course in Negro history, which would help with mutual understanding of their heritage and the history of their ancestors that dates back to the beginnings of time.

There are other problems, some minor, some serious, that need an explicit airing.

This will be done also, within the limits of time to do an adequate job. For the moment, these first few hundred words are just a beginning that hopefully will grow into steppingstones to understanding.

Officers Probe Hoax
Wellsville police today continued investigation of a reported bomb in the Wellsville MacDonald School which brought dismissal of classes Thursday afternoon.

Firemen and police made a fruitless search of the building after John Mackov, principal, ordered the 438 students from the school at 1:55, following a report from a woman who had been phoned by a man saying there was a bomb in one of the schools.

Since the woman was a relative of a MacDonald teacher, she assumed that school was meant.

Negroes need to register to vote, not as a racial bloc but as informed citizens of the community, and then seek representation on many of the boards and commissions that help the city government function. These include the Carnegie Library Board of Trustees, the Civil Service Commission, the City Park Commission, the Board of Public Utilities, the Planning Commission and several others.

The so-called Human Relations Board which has been in existence for approximately four years has done little or nothing to help Negroes and obtain justice. The problem lies in part in the fact that there is only one Negro on the board, but the biggest factor is that the average Negro does not know of the existence of the board, its purposes and objectives or how to process a complaint or an enquiry if he had one.

THE YOUNG people, as everywhere, are the hope of the older generations. But those with exceptional ability leave the community — as do many whites — and their hometown ping, one explanation after another to justify U.S. participation in the war.

The public was first told it was to be a limited, short-term war, but then it somehow was recast as a conflict in which "the national honor had somehow been pledged," he said.

"How did this happen? When were we consulted?" Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the third contender for the nomination, had words of support and approval Thursday for the Poor People's Campaign.

The vice president strode in the rain through "Resurrection City U. S. A.," the village of plywood A-frame huts in which the poor are camping near the Lincoln Memorial. The shantytown is the base from which they will operate in a lobbying campaign to persuade Congress to do more for the nation's poor.

Humphrey told leaders of the campaign "your work is going to produce results." Later, at a meeting of women antipoverty workers, he said the nation's programs to aid the poor are run on a "bare bones" budget.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a latecomer to the fight for the GOP nomination, saw a onetime backer shift to a more neutral stance Thursday.

On tour with a group of Republican governors canvassing the nation for ideas to be written into the GOP platform, Rockefeller was in Baltimore when he heard Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland announce he will go to the national convention as a favorite.

Agnew was at one time a leader in the movement to get Rockefeller into the race, even opening a national draft-Rockefeller headquarters in Annapolis.

Rockefeller's chief opponent, Richard M. Nixon, described in a radio address Thursday night a new "alliance of ideas" that he said is reshaping American thought.

There is much common ground in some of the ideas espoused by black militants, "new liberals," Republicans and the "new South," Nixon said.

Nine loan applications, a monthly high, were approved during May, the City Employees' Credit Union was informed during a meeting Thursday afternoon in the Council chamber at City Hall.

Harold Peters, chairman of the credit committee, presented the report on loans totaling $4,118.43.

D. G. Wilkinson, president, asked the credit committee to draft new bylaws governing the procedure in approving loans. They will be presented at a special meeting.

L. J. Zollinger, secretary, will advise the membership of the session by mail.

Mrs. Jean Saucer, treasurer, submitted a report and Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver said the supervisory committee will meet next week to prepare reports.

Mrs. Helen Steffen said a party will be held Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Fiorello's on Mulberry St. A brief meeting is slated.

The next regular meeting will be June 20.

Ohio U. Ready To End Term If Workers Strike

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University students reportedly stand ready today to accept a plan to end the current term a week early in case nonteaching employees go on strike at the school Monday.

In a swift series of developments Thursday, one proposal was rejected and OU Provost Thomas Smith came forth with a second one under which the spring term will end a week from today instead of the scheduled June 1 in case of a walk-out.

The plan, if approved by the student body, would go into effect if members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees walk off the job Monday.

The union wants employees' jobs reclassified and has scheduled a strike vote Saturday.

Earlier Thursday, student leaders rejected a proposal drawn up by Thomas. They objected to it on grounds that students did not have enough voice in saying how their grades would be determined for a shortened term.

The second plan will be submitted to the Faculty Senate tonight for consideration and, if approved, the students are not expected to stand in its way.

Under the latest plan, students would be able to select a variety of grading plans. One, among many, would permit each faculty member to determine grades based upon current student performance. Another would permit instructors to omit formal written examinations as part of the grading. A third would permit grading on a pass or fail basis.

Minor Mishaps Are Investigated

Two minor accidents were investigated by city police Thursday.

Cars operated by William Warrick Jr., 17, of 1753 Wooster Ave. and Omar Stanley Hargraves, 20, of Lisbon St. were involved in a collision at 11:48 a. m. at Broadway and St. Clair Ave.

Patrolman K. J. Montgomery investigated. Warrick said he had halted on Broadway to make a left turn and was hit in the rear by the other vehicle. Hargraves confirmed the report.

Christopher Graham, 20, of Williams Ave., Fisher Park, reported to police that his car was struck in the rear by another on Lisbon St. near the 1800 block at 9:45 p. m.

Graham said he was headed down Lisbon St. and as he came over a small rise he had to halt quickly to avoid hitting two dogs fighting in the middle of the road. He was then struck in the rear, he said.

James T. Mays of 136 W. 3rd St. was listed as a witness to the mishap. The other driver was not identified.

FATHERLESS OFFSPRING

Q. Our high school biology textbook mentions parthenogenesis but gives no details. Will you please explain?

A. Parthenogenesis (development of an organism from an unfertilized egg) occurs chiefly in certain insects and worms. In 1939 the late Dr. Gregory Pincus, professor of experimental zoology at Clark University, brought about the first fatherless mammalian birth, inducing parthenogenesis in a rabbit. The technique employed in parthenogenesis are much too complex to be reviewed in this limited space.

RED HAIR

Q. What makes red hair red? If blond or brunette parents have a redheaded baby, could the child's hair color be due to some deficiency in the mother?

A. Red hair contains a pigment similar to that found in the red feathers of chickens. Hair color is inherited and has no relationship to the mother's health. Like other hereditary traits, the color of hair is passed along not only by parents but by the parent's parents and by ancestors even further removed. This explains why a redheaded baby will occasionally pop up in a "no redheads" family.

Conditions Set For Local Youth In Accident Case

An 18-year-old city youth was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation when he pleaded guilty Thursday in Municipal Court to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Ronald Woomer, 18, of the YMCA pleaded guilty to the charge filed by Marion L. Perkins, 24, of Myler Park.

Judge Samuel Chertoff suspended the 30-day sentence in the County Jail at Lisbon on the condition Woomer follow directives issued by the court.

Perkins filed the charge after his car was hit on W. 6th St. Monday at 12:14 a. m. and the driver of the other car fled the scene. Perkins testified he gave chase and obtained the license number.

Woomer admitted the charge and said he had been drinking. Judge Chertoff ordered his operator's license held until the youth obtains employment. He ordered Woomer, who is a senior at East Liverpool High School, to refrain from drinking, stay away from his grandmother, attend school regularly without missing a session and report each Monday morning to Patrolman Charles Winters.

Ohioans Pay 60% Higher In College Tuition, Fees

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohioans pay close to 60 per cent above the national average in tuition and fees to attend state-supported institutions of higher education, a survey by a Cleveland utility showed Friday.

For more than 360 state-supported institutions outside Ohio, average annual tuition and fees were $310, compared with $495 for Ohio schools, the study by the East Ohio Gas Co. disclosed.

The tuition and fees at state universities in Ohio range from $363 at Central State University to $565 at Bowling Green and $600 at the University of Cincinnati for Ohioans living outside that city.

And these costs are likely to go up, the study pointed out. Increases were kept from becoming effective next academic year by veto of the Ohio Board of Regents.

The cost of living has risen by about 45 per cent since 1950, East Ohio Gas statisticians said but the average cost of attending college has doubled since then.

Citing Oberlin College as an example, the survey said tuition and fees—along with room and board—cost $1,365 in 1950 and will cost $3,163 for the school year starting next September.

Among the private colleges in Ohio, Wilberforce University charges for next school year are $930 for tuition and fees and $750 for room and board, for a low total of $1,680 among Ohio private colleges. In addition to Oberlin, four private colleges will cost $3,000 or more—Western College for Women and Lake Erie College, each $3,000; Kenyon $3,120 and Case Western Reserve $3,206.

Here are the increases shown for some of the big state schools in their charges in tuition and fees since 1955: Kent State, $208 to $510; Ohio University, $177 to $510; Bowling Green, $208 to $565; Miami, $190 to $520.

Parents footing the bills must also figure on an average minimum outlay of $500 a school year over and above the costs of tuition, fees, board and room.

French Student-Worker Unrest Perils TV-Radio

PARIS (AP) — France's student-worker unrest threatened today to spread to the national radio-television network.

Despite a television appeal to Frenchmen by Premier Georges Pompidou to "show that you refuse anarchy," no slowing of the movement was in sight. The government called up police reserves to add to the big force already in Paris but kept the gardes at a discreet distance from the occupied University of Paris and factories to avoid a repetition of last week's street battles.

In brief, this was the situation:

Classes were still halted in most French universities. Students held meetings in classrooms and auditoriums, railing against the established order but undecided on what they wanted to replace it.

Striking workers occupied four plants of the nationalized Renault automobile company, France's biggest employer with some 60,000 workers.

Newspaper sales in Paris were disrupted by a strike of the central distribution system. The papers were printed but were left at the plants.

The personnel committees of the Office for French Radio and Television called a general assembly to vote on an unlimited strike. The principal demand is for independence from control by the ministries of information and finance.

The striking workers want better job security, shorter working hours and higher pay, and their support for the students has been only token since the huge demonstration in Paris Monday protesting the police brutality last week.

While there was no sign police would try to clear the occupied factories and universities, the government mobilized about 10,000 police reserves to help 60,000 already on duty.

Washington, the vice president was guided through a shoving, pushing crowd by a ring of marshals who locked arms against the press of people.

As rain pelted the visitors, Humphrey termed the Poor People's Campaign "the Ameri-can way" of seeking change.

"Your work is going to pro-duce results," he said. And to The Rev. James Bevel's long explanation of what he called a nonviolent revolution, the vice president offered a constant stream of comments: "Yes sir... exactly... keep that kind of talk up," and "speak to the people as you spoke to us."

Kiwanians Hear
Discussion About
Insurance Rates

Accidents and their resultant court actions are largely responsible for insurance rates, the Kiwanis Club was told by G. V. Weinstock of Lisbon at a meeting Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Weinstock, an insurance agent and representative of the Ohio Information Service, explained the background of insurance coverage for automobiles.

The rates are higher in Mahoning and Stark County than in Columbiana County, he said, as a result of the settlements made on claims.

Weinstock said out of each $100 worth of policy, only $65 is left for payment of claims after deductions for sales, office costs and taxes.

He also compared the costs of repairs in 1944 with today's expenses, showing the great increase.

The importance of driver training in public schools was also emphasized. He was introduced by James Locke.

Collin Neal reported on an inter-club meeting at Columbiana Tuesday. Dayton Allen, chairman of the Kiwanis phase of a horse show to be sponsored jointly with the Boot and Saddle Club June 1-2, said a cleanup night is planned Tuesday.

Harold Fryman said the club will attend a Pirate baseball game at Pittsburgh July 23.

The first political platform ever to be drawn up was in 1832, in Washington, D.C., in the campaign to elect Henry Clay president.

Girl Scout
News Items

Twelve from Brownie Troop 549 of Wellsville were received into Junior Girl Scouts at the annual fly-up ceremony Tuesday night in the Immaculate Conception School.

Those becoming Junior Girl Scouts were Shawn Bauman, Arnetta Beal, Diana Carter, Theresa Ference, Patty La-Clair, Sue Ann Lanam, Karen MacLean, Dorothy Platt, Doreen Rosenlieb, Paula Wallace, Pam Weekley and Sherrie Wright.

Brownies receiving Brownie World Friendship pins were: Janice Boyce, Jeanie Buchmann, Cristi Corak, Jill Handley, Cathy MacBane and Shelley Stout.

Princess pins were given Jeanie Buchmann, Diana Carter, Jill Handley, Dorothy Platt, Shelley Stout and Sherrie Wright for selling the most cookies during 1968. All the Brownies received year stars.

Brownies formed a ring at one end of the room and Junior Girl Scouts formed a horseshoe at the other end. A small bridge was built in the middle.

Mrs. Sally L. Buchmann, Brownie leader, presented each fly-up with their wings. They left the room and large golden wings were pinned on their backs. They then crossed the bridge and received their Girl Scout pins from Mrs. Joy Stout, Junior leader. Then they joined the Girl Scout horseshoe.

The fly-up opened with the flag ceremony, Brownie Promise and song.

Guests were Sister M. Julia and Sister Dorothy Marie and members of Girl Scout Troop 542. The meeting was the final one until fall with the exception of the Memorial Day parade and the picnic June 8 at Hammond Park. Mrs. Iwila Handley is assistant leader.

A dance will highlight the social event from 10 to 1 a.m.

GOP Headed
By McQuilkin

LISBON — Ford McQuilkin, Homeworth businessman, will head the Columbiana County Republican committee for the next two years.

He was named Wednesday night to succeed Charles A. Pike, Lisbon attorney, who has served six years — the limit permitted by committee bylaws.

McQuilkin owns the Home-worth Lumber Co., has been active in party politics 20 years and was vice chairman during Pike's leadership.

The Republicans, meeting at St. George parish hall, elected as vice chairman Eyer Hinch-liffe of Lisbon, Center Township trustee. Re-elected were William Brokaw of East Liverpool, secretary, and Mrs. Sarah Hunt of Columbiana, treasurer.

McQuilkin appointed Mrs. Paul Mollenkopf of Lisbon as county chairwoman to succeed Miss Gladys DeBolt of East Liverpool, who has served six years. The chairman appointed two vice chairwomen — Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Betty Rager of Wellsville.

Committeemen gave Pike a standing ovation for his work on behalf of the party.

try to hold the valley but would make a "reconnaissance in force," meaning they would look around and destroy or remove what they could find.

The U.S. Command said the American troops seized nearly 2,000 enemy rifles, 60 machine guns, more than 250,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, some 4,500 rounds of artillery, rocket, mortar and recoilless rifle ammunition, one tank, 66 trucks, several bulldozers and 71,205 tons of rice.

Rosson said the major portion of the U.S. and South Vietnamese force began withdrawing several days ago, but the schedule for the withdrawal was kept secret for security reasons.

Fifty-five miles due east of A Shau, just below the big U.S. Marine headquarters at Da Nang, a Leatherneck force ran into stiff enemy opposition in a day-long battle Thursday.

Water Mains

The Industry Municipal Authority has received final approval from the Federal Housing Urban Development Agency for the $540,200 water system expansion project plans and specifications.

Michael Baker Jr., consulting engineers, said bids will be advertised for the construction project starting Monday.

Bids will be opened at the next Authority meeting June 11.

During the next three weeks, members of the authority will solicit residents of the Engle Rd., Barclay Hill Rd., Industry Heights, Industry village and Ohioview areas to determine if there will be a 90 per cent sign up for water in each district.

The tap in fee will be $200. A $25 deposit is payable on sign up, with the balance due when water is available.

Additional volunteers are needed to assist the members who will be visiting — Don Luster, Fred Summers, Clyde Edmonston, Don Haswell, John Gregor, Earl Rankin and Bill Marx.

Under federal regulations, if any area does not achieve 90 per cent sign up, that area will be removed from the project, and the federal grant of $270,100 will be proportionally trimmed.

Women Shortage On Television

TV still is a wasteland where women are concerned. For example, the Emmy nominees for "Outstanding Continued Performance by a Dramatic Actress in a Series" this year are the same three nominated last year: Barbara Bain (who won last year), Barbara Stanwyck and Diana Rigg.

Hal Humphrey

These three were nominated out of nine actresses submitted to the voters. For males in the same category, 5 were nominated — Raymond Burr, Bill Cosby, Robert Culp, Ben Gazzara and Martin Landau (Miss Bain's husband).

I ASKED Miss Bain why she thought the ranks of women in TV were so thin.

"I really don't know," she said. "I suppose it still proves it's a man's world, or something. I think men are sorry they even gave women the vote."

The number of women in lead TV roles shrink each year, it seems, and this applies to situation comedy, too. Besides Lucille Ball, who's still there, we used to have Ann Sothern, the late Gracie Allen and Joan Davis, Imogene Coca, Cara Williams, Donna Reed, Inger Stevens and Eve Arden, to name a few.

This season Carol Burnett and Eve Arden came back with their own shows, and so did Sally Field ("The Flying Nun"). They joined Marlo Thomas, Liz Montgomery, Lucy, Bea Benadaret, Barbara Eden and Eva Gabor, but that's fewer than we've had in previous seasons.

ON THE DRAMATIC side we used to have Loretta Young, Jane Wyman, June Allison, Shirley Temple and Barbara Stanwyck (in "Big Valley"). Miss Stanwyck now shares the lead with three men with their own shows. Even Miss Bain is surrounded by four male regulars in "Mission Impossible." "Maybe it's just too difficult for men to write for women," suggested Miss Bain in another effort to explain TV's almost femaleless condition. "Most of them are turned out as unrealistic-type women by men, sort of like in a fantasy."

MISS BAIN hasn't even had to worry about guest female competition. Except for one episode last season, there have been no other gals cast in "Mission Impossible," even on the wrong team.

This lack of women in TV, of course, doesn't disturb Miss Bain as much as it does the male TV audience. It's kind of heaven to her, being one of the few actresses with a regular role on TV as fat as the one she has.

"I'm ecstatic," she added. "The show is a big hit in France and Japan, and I get lots of mail from men proposing marriage — even from 9-year-old boys."

One of her Japanese fans began his letter, "Forgive me from taking the ear from your head for this moment in time while I reach deep into my heart..."

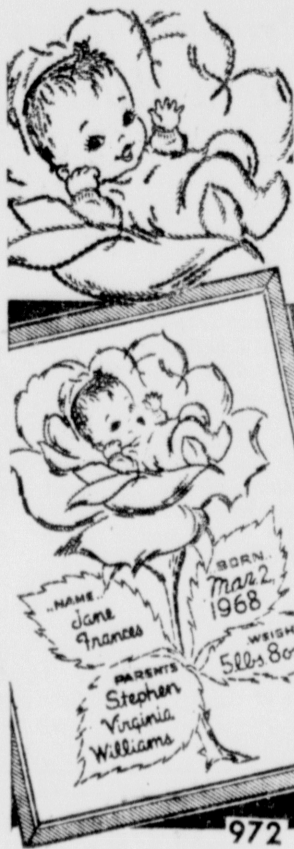

"YOU SEE, I not only have a regular part in TV, but a marvelous one," said Miss Bain.

She is convinced this year, however, that Barbara Stanwyck will win the Emmy (as she has in the past). As for Diana Rigg, Miss Bain simply says, "I don't know Miss Rigg, and haven't seen many of her 'Avenger' shows, so I don't know what range she has as an actress."

Miss Bain has a warm spot in her heart for Miss Stanwyck, though. "Thinks she's a grand lady, and they are friendly toward each other."

There is one place on TV where the female is not overlooked, which I forgot to mention, and that's in the commercials. Girls, and sexy ones, too, are plentiful when it's commercial time. Apparently Madison Avenue hasn't the hang-ups about women that Hollywood TV producers seem to have.

She is a member of the Auxiliary of South Side American Legion Post 952.

The flowers are made by disabled veterans in administration homes and hospital. Mrs. Evans commented, "Let's not forget those who are alive and need the aid provided by funds derived from the poppy sale."

The parade will terminate at the 17th St. park, where a band will play and refreshments will be available.

Members of the commission are Marjorie Dyer, Marceline Gooch, Jack Lanam, John Powell and Dorothy Bunfill.

Group To Mark 6th Anniversary

HIGHLANDTOWN — Members will dine in Canton Monday to mark the sixth anniversary of the Highlandtown Women's Corps.

Plans for the outing were made during this week's meeting in the fire hall.

A donation was given to the Little League and the Babe Ruth League. The group decided on blouses of blue and gold, the Southern Local school colors, with lettering on the back, to identify the corps.

The booth for the homecoming observance was discussed. Final plans will be made at the next meeting June 11.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Rockenhauser and Mrs. Hazel Smith.

Parade, King And Queen To Mark Playlot Opening

Plans for the Wellsville summer playground program were completed during a meeting of the commission Tuesday at City Hall.

A "grand opening" June 13 will feature a parade and the crowning of a king and queen. The observance will be held three days after the official opening of the playground areas, Mayor William Daugherty said.

Heading the parade, which will begin on the square at 6:30 p.m. will be the king and queen — to be selected at noon June 12 — accompanied by the remaining eight members of the court.

Selection of the king and queen will be based on money contributed for each candidate. The contest opened Wednesday and will close June 12. Daugherty said. Voting will be held in the office of the Wellsville Publishing Co.

To qualify, an entry must be between the ages of 5 and 12 inclusive. A 50-cent entrance fee is required from each contestant.

The parade will terminate at the 17th St. park, where a band will play and refreshments will be available.

Members of the commission are Marjorie Dyer, Marceline Gooch, Jack Lanam, John Powell and Dorothy Bunfill.

ANN LANDERS

Second Childhood Reply

Dear Ann Landers: I'm old enough to be your mother but here I am asking for advice.

I had my 68th birthday last month. The problem is a neighbor man who is 73. I dread the coming of summer because whenever he sees me in the yard pulling weeds or tending my flowers and shrubbery he comes over and talks my arm off.

Last week I was on the step-ladder putting on screens. This fool came over and started to shake the ladder. I told him to stop it at once. He said, "Not unless you promise to give me a little kiss when you get down."

I told him if he didn't stop I would tell his wife. He said, "She'll never believe you. I haven't kissed her in 15 years."

The only way I could get down was to promise him a kiss, so I did. Then of course I had to keep my promise. Now he's pestering me worse than ever. Please tell me how to get rid of him.—YONKERS.

Dear Yonk? Put that show on the road. Grandma. A couple of no-nonsense sentences would settle the old goat permanently. He sounds as if he's in his second childhood — and so do you.

A Hair Raiser

Dear Ann: Your advice is usually sound but occasionally you wander into areas you don't know anything about, and damage a special segment of society.

To the lady who had tried unsuccessfully to get rid of her mustache, you said: "Electrolysis has proven a godsend to thousands of women after everything else failed. But I caution you — go to a dermatologist — not a beauty shop."

I happen to be a licensed electrologist and I work in a beauty shop. I earned my license after many hours of grueling study and carefully supervised practice. It's tedious work and requires a great deal of patience. I've never had a dissatisfied patron.

Very few physicians in this city do hair removal. They are too busy healing the sick. Electro-

Demolition Work Begins To Widen Parking Facility

Workmen Thursday began the demolition of four buildings across from City Hall for the expansion of the W. 6th St. municipal parking lot.

Council appropriated the necessary funds Monday night. The property was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Leland Thompson.

Ira VanFossen of Chester received the contract for razing the structures on a low bid of $2,450.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today anyone interested in obtaining materials from the buildings should contact workmen on the job. Several persons have contacted the director's office, but the buildings now are owned by Van Fossen, Vodrey pointed out.

Howard Hits 2 More HRs

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard felt like he was in a dentist's chair and Ralph Houk would've sworn he was in an electric one.

Howard, Washington's mammoth slugger, drilled his 13th and 14th home runs of the season—tying an American League record with seven circuits in his last four games—and drove in all of Washington's runs as the Senators clipped Cleveland 4-1 Thursday night.

Manager Houk, meanwhile, shuddered through a nightmarish game in Boston where his normally run-starved New York Yankees scored 10 times only to have the Red Sox rally for six runs in the eighth inning and an 11-0 victory.

In the only other American League game played, Minnesota edged Oakland 4-3.

E. Liverpool Linkmen Top Carrollton 7-2

Carl Winters of Carrollton took medalist honors and two points against East Liverpool yesterday, but none of the other Carrollton golfers could score as the Potters won 7-2 at Minerva Edgewater.

Winters fired a 38 to a 40 by John Stepien. Rick Hughes of the Potters edged Roy Rogers 42-4. Bob Kinsey shot a 41 to a 47 by John Richards and Bill McHenry notched a 39 to a 55 by Don Brooks.

The Potters are now 13-12 on the year.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

This letter concerns the manner in which the varsity baseball program is being run at East Liverpool High School.

"Hitting against the Indians' pitching staff," said Howard before Thursday night's game, "is like going to the dentist. You have to keep the appointment but you don't like it much."

The Gentle Giant bore up pretty well against Sam McDowell, connecting after Sam Bowers singled in the third and again after Bowers had walked in the fifth.

The two shots boosted Howard's batting average to .339—tops in the American League. His 14 homers and 28 runs batted in lead both leagues.

The seven homers in four games tied the record set by Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees in 1936 and tied by Gus Zernial of Philadelphia in 1951.

It had been 10 games since New York had managed more than two runs in a game. But the Yankees erupted for six runs in the third inning—four of them on rookie catcher Frank Fernandez' grand slam homer—and were leading the Red Sox 9-3 after four.

The primary concern was the weather. A steady downpour threatened to wash the game out before it was official. But Houk got lucky, or so he thought, and the game continued despite the rain.

It was 10-5 Yankees in the eighth when Bobby Cox, troubled by Jose Tartabull's leadoff grounder. A single by Gene Oliver and a walk by Mike Andrews loaded the bases and finished Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre.

Joe Foy greeted reliever Joe Verbanic with a two-run double and Dalton Jones' infield hit made it 10-8. Reggie Smith doubled for another run and by this time Houk was really feeling the heat.

Dooley Womack relieved and walked Ken Harrelson, who had socked a three-run homer earlier. George Scott's sacrifice fly tied the game as Smith moved to third. Then Jerry Adair dumped a perfect suicide squeeze bunt, scoring Smith with the winner.

Minnesota rallied for two runs in the eighth inning to beat Oakland.

Pinch hitter Frank Kostro delivered the big blow with a first pitch double against reliever Paul Lindblad that chased home the tying run and sent Rich Rollins to third. John Roseboro's sacrifice fly a moment later scored Rollins with the winner.

Don Ross, head football coach at Beaver Local for the past three years, will take a position as assistant football coach at Canton South next season.

Ross will serve under R. A. Bellisari, who left Columbiana to take the head coaching job at South.

Ross compiled a 13-14-1 mark as head coach of the Beavers. He was 4-6 last season and had a tie for the Buckeye Border Conference title in 1966. He was assistant coach for two years previous to getting the head coaching job. Ross was also assistant basketball coach at Beaver Local.

Ross said yesterday that he viewed the move as a step up, and a chance to get into "a hotbed of football". He also noted that he will be able to work on his M.A. at either Akron or the Canton branch of Kent State.

Ross, 27, is a native of Lancaster, and a graduate of Cincinnati U. He will remain at Beaver Local through the end of the summer, teaching summer school.

Applications for the vacant job will be taken by Roy Cashdollar, head of the athletic committee. The salary is $800. No action can be taken until the next school board meeting, June 1.

Paul Jackson, Jim Agich and Dick Parsons were assistants at Beaver Local last fall.

Clemente Breaks Slump

By MIKE RECHT Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente missed the recent bat burning held by his Pittsburgh Pirates teammates, and now the St. Louis Cardinals would like to hold a special one for him.

The idea must have occurred to the Cardinals after Clemente and his unburned bat cooled off St. Louis pitching Thursday night with a two-run triple that sparked the Pirates to a 3-0 victory.

"I got someone to save them (his bats) for me," Clemente said after the Pirates disgustedly burned about eight of their bats in Forbes Field following the second straight 1-0 loss to St. Louis Wednesday night.

"I don't believe in that." None of the other Pirates seem to have gotten hot over the affair, and the rest of the league also did little with their regular bats Thursday.

Rich Nye hurled a six-hitter and the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0. Tom Seaver's six-hitter helped the New York Mets past Cincinnati 2-1 and Juan Marichal twirled a five-hitter in San Francisco's 3-1 triumph over Houston. Atlanta was rained out at Philadelphia in the other scheduled game.

Clemente, who singled in the first inning, ended Pittsburgh's streak of 27 scoreless innings in the third inning after Matty Alou blooped a two-out single and Maury Wills got an infield

Bob Veale Riding High After 2 Straight Wins

By BOB VOELKER Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Veale is soaring psychologically—high enough to bump into airplanes.

The big southpaw of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff has a mediocre 2-3 win-loss record, but his fireball pitching has ranged from very good to excellent.

It was excellent Thursday night as he blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 for his first shutout of the year. It was his second straight victory.

Veale started the year with three defeats in low-scoring, one-run decisions. Asked if the back-to-back victories picked him up mentally, he replied:

"I can't be lifted any higher."

Veale, who gave up eight hits and fanned 13, figures the Cardinal game was his best of the year—but not by much.

"I also pitched a good game against San Francisco and Los Angeles, except for one inning in the Los Angeles game. And I had a good game against St. Louis before," he said.

NFL Owners Plan For Possible Strike

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—National Football League owners are keeping under wraps the strategy they plan to use to counter demands by the NFL Players Association for a bigger share of receipts.

Worried about the possibility of a players' strike, NFL owners closed out a four-day meeting Thursday without revealing whether they are willing to compromise on the players' demands or plan to reject requests for more money.

A committee headed by Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and president of the NFL, was empowered to negotiate with the association at a meeting in New York next week.

The association is seeking a minimum salary of $15,000 a year, $500 for each player for exhibition games, and a $5 million payment to the players' pension fund.

Not much opposition to the minimum salary was expressed by NFL owners at the joint Elsewhere on this page appears a letter about the East Liverpool High School baseball team.

I know nothing of the situation in 1966, but this year there was a game played after the tournament was concluded, and one other scheduled game was cancelled. No games were scheduled past May 2. Granted, there should be more games scheduled, but the problem here is that East Liverpool did not play baseball last season, and it's hard to schedule games after a season off.

Old opponents have picked up new foes, and since voters have not passed a levy, there is no guarantee that there will be baseball at East Liverpool next year. Under these circumstances, Coach Jim Potts did the best scheduling he could, and he and the school are certainly not solely to blame for the abbreviated program.

Stanton Whips JU For Indian Title

Setting a host of school and league records, Stanton finished the dual meet season unbeaten and won the Indian League track title by whipping Jefferson Union 103-50 at Stanton last night.

Both Harry Diehl's thinclads and the Yellowjackets were unbeaten going into last night's meet, the final one of the year, but the results were not even close, as JU won only two events. Stanton has now won 16 dual meets in a row, eight this season.

John Reese broke school records in the high and low hurdle events. He went :16.4 in the 120-highs, bettering the :16.5 set by Danny Smith in 1966. He did :21.8 in the 180-lows, erasing a :22.0 turned in by Doug Hamilton in 1965.

John Minor turned in a 2:04.2 in the 880 setting a league and school record in the process. Minor and Calgary Penn of the Red Raiders had done 2:05.1 earlier this season.

The shuttle hurdle relay team of Reese, Bob Holland, Doug Koehnlein and Keith Reese set a school and league standard with a :58.1 clocking. Both teams were unbeaten going into this event. JU held the old league mark of :58.5, set in 1967.

Dave Olesky tied the school 220 mark with a :23.3 clocking. Cornell Maydak scored a double, winning the 100 in :10.7 and the 440 in :53.4. Penn took the mile in 4:50.7. Butch Mc-Masters the discus in 126-3 1/2. Jim McCourt the high jump in 5-6 and Holland the pole vault in 11-0.

The 880-yard relay team of McCourt, Keith Reese, Larry Hooper and Olesky won in 1:36.4 and the mile relay quarter of Maydak, Mike Patterson, Minor and Wilbur Carothers triumphed in 3:41.1.

In other results Mingo beat Southern, 88-65. Hopedale trounced Brilliant 94-58 and Cadiz downed Springfield 91-56. Jay Clapsadle was a double winner for Southern, taking the high and low hurdles. Jim Tolley won the 880, Jim Mellott the mile and Lou Excel the high jump.

Five three-man teams broke 75 consecutive targets during the protector shoots of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association Wednesday, forcing a shootoff.

In other events, Ray Goodman had a perfect 25 to win the 16-yard event. Placing second was George Hercules, with 24 of 25.

Alfred Cochran and Ray Thompson scored two wins to take top honors during the regular protector shoot. Scoring one each were George Dudick and Lantford Blevins, Terry Zaplata and James Lawton, Jim Czech and Larry Cochran, Jerry Cochran and Goodman, Dave Parr and Blevins, George Hercules and Glen Ramsey.

During the 10-target shoot, James Lawton and Jerry Reynolds scored two wins, followed by Larry Cochran, Alpha Adkins, Alfred Cochran, John Hanchin and Dave Parr with one each.

Paul Saling, president, said the regular shoot will be held Saturday beginning at 4 p.m. During a club meeting this week, a rules committee was appointed by Saling. It includes John McKintosh, chairman, George Hercules, Glen Ramsey, Harold Waldon and Paul Desler.

winner's circle with Dancer's Image. Now, because of that race, he will be just a television spectator when the colt runs in the Preakness.

"I will watch the Preakness on television, but I don't know where yet," Cavalaris said Thursday. "I have confidence he will run a good race."

He and his assistant, Robert Barnard, are under suspension by the Churchill Downs stewards as a result of Dancer's Image's disqualification as Derby winner because of an illegal medication found in the colt's system by a post-race test.

Cavalaris, barred from any race track while under suspension through June 13, was at a motel near Pimlico when owner Peter Fuller entered Dancer's Image in Saturday's 93rd running of the Preakness.

Dancer's Image will do battle once again with Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, moved up to first in the Derby and given a shot at becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation won the Derby, Preakness and Belmont in 1948.

Crusader Baseballers Top Oak Glen

A seventh-inning rally by Oak Glen fell short as Steubenville Central posted a 6-4 win at Newell yesterday.

Dave Anderson hit a two-out triple to score two runs and bring the tying run to the plate, but the rally died. The Golden Bears had scored previously when Jim Wells doubled in two runs.

Ron Cornell took the loss for Oak Glen, now 3-9. Cornell was hurt by seven walks, as each team got five hits. Zekas was the winner.

Junior Editors Quiz on
BABY ROBINS

QUESTION: How do baby robins grow?

ANSWER: At nesting time the cheerful robin becomes a busy bird. By April, robins often pair off and begin nest building, although nests are often constructed in May and June. Since robins love to pull worms out of lawns they build nests near houses, picking convenient spots in trees, sheds and outbuildings. Mother robin does most of the nest building, though the father may help with keeping the beautiful robin's egg blue eggs warm while the mother snatches a refreshing worm. Inside the shell the unhatched birds have horny bumps on their beaks. When ready, a chick will drill several holes in the shell, which will crack and allow him to wiggle out. He is wet and tired, but quite soon is rested enough to open his huge red mouth and start pecking with his parents for worms and more worms. At first his eyes are closed and he has no feathers, but after 10 days his eyes are open and his flight feathers well developed. After two or three weeks, he is teetering on the edge of the nest, ready for the great adventure. He flutters off and lands, with his parents still feeding him. Very soon he can really fly - even find his own worms. Then he's on his own.

Rusty Eldridge of Natchez, Miss., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review, is selected for a prize.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip For Salt-Free Dieter

DEAR HELOISE: For the family cooks who are faced with the dilemma of a person on a salt-free diet to cook for, try this:

Take your portion of unsalted, uncooked food and place in aluminum foil. Seal tightly.

Put this packet on top of the food to be cooked. You can season the rest of the family's food and your packet is cooked at the same time without seasoning.

It is also easy to place several of the aluminum packets in a large boiler with an inch or two of water in the bottom and steam them at the same time.

This always seems to delight small children. The unopened packets placed on their tray give them "surprise" meals.

Mother did this for 13 months for my sister and it worked just wonderfully.

MIRIAM JENKINS.

DEAR HELOISE: We live in an apartment area with no place to hide an extra key, and have to go to the main office to have someone let us in if we lose or forget our key.

So to be on the safe side, I put my extra key on a small key chain and hook it over my girdle supporter before fastening it. It slips under the top of my hose and I never know it is there.

What a comfortable feeling not to be "LOCKED OUT".

Now, that's what I call using your noggin! Thanks for "keying" us in.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: I read the hint recently about how the lady kept her copperline appliances clean with vinegar. Her hint is good, but I would like to tell you how I care for mine.

My granny always told me there were good ways to do everything.

One day while waxing my car, the light flashed! I waxed my copperline refrigerator with the same car wax. (The kind that cleans and waxes at the same time.) Great!

Now all it takes to clean and shine them is a paper towel and a quick wipe and they gleam. The wax job lasts for several months too.

AURELIA.

DEAR HELOISE: I work part time as a homemaking teacher.

When my students ask how I manage a job and family, I tell them my special housework formula.

"Don't put it away, just memorize where you left it! (Your left shoe is under the chair, the right one is on top of the record player.)..."

SANDREA CHAIT.

DEAR HELOISE: My lawnmower starts with a quick jerk of a nylon rope. But since we gals just don't have enough power in one arm, I have found a new way to crank the thing without being all in before I start mowing.

I drove a stake deep into the ground. Now I hook the mower on it just behind the front wheel and give a quick pull with both hands. It doesn't slide when I pull the starting rope.

Try it if you don't have a self-starting mower and have to run that noisy thing around the yard.

NINA ACKER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a suggestion for those whose parents are retired and, for one reason or another, can no longer drive a car.

An acquaintance of mine received from her son and wife a gift certificate from a taxi company to be used at will during the year.

For parents who still drive but are on a limited budget, a certificate for oil and gasoline would also be a useful gift.

Dr. Peake Named Provost At Pitt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dr. Charles H. Peake has been named provost of the University of Pittsburgh.

He'd been acting provost, the chief academic officer after the chancellor, since last September.

Pitt's trustees elected three charter trustees and five new trustees Wednesday. Elected charter trustees to serve until retirement were R. S. Ahlbrandt, B. R. Dorsey and G. H. McCracken, all former trustees.

Other new trustees are H. J. Heinz III of the H. J. Heinz Co.; R. F. Barker, board chairman of PPG-Industries; R. E. Kirby, executive vice president of Westinghouse Electric; Judge Ruggero J. Aldisert, Allegheny County Common Pleas Court, and Russell M. Arnold, president of the Burrell Corp.

All will serve three-year terms until 1971, except Heinz, whose term runs to 1969. He was named to fill a vacancy on the board.

Teacher Faces Trial

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Paul J. Svec, 23, a school teacher from Garfield Heights, Ohio, will be tried in Superior Court beginning Aug. 5 on a charge of possessing marijuana. Svec, a sixth grade English teacher, pleaded innocent to the charge Thursday.

2 In Hospital After Mishap

Two Jefferson County men were admitted to Ohio Valley Hospital at Steubenville this morning following a head-on collision on Route 7 at Empire.

In "fair" condition are James Gilmore Jr., 27, of Mingo Junction, driver of one car, possible concussion, and Robert Clore, 30, of Trenton St., Toronto, a passenger in the Gilmore car, possible head injury and lacerations of the face and scalp.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville said the mishap occurred at 2 a. m. when a southbound 1964 compact, operated by Robert W. Frazer, 21, of Steubenville, went left of center and collided with the Gilmore car.

Vote With Minority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Stephen Young and Frank Lausche, both Ohio Democrats, voted with the minority Thursday as the Senate voted 53 to 29 against an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to ban interstate mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Whalen Questions U.S. Air Force Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Whalen, R-Ohio, has questioned an Air Force plan that would quadruple the estimated megatonnage now needed by enemy missiles to destroy underground missile complexes in the United States.

"Before we rush headlong into the creation of a $40 billion system at a time of serious financial crisis, we must assure ourselves that it is warranted," Whalen said Thursday.
